

You cannot really hope to include some hardware for copy protection for 'any device that can send or receive a digital signal'! To do so would mean you would have to include every pc, every mp3 player, every tv, every digital vcr, and the list goes on. this is SO unbelievably impractical and ridiculous! please do not even attempt to do this.